Together in Neurodiversity

Why asdflo!

- . Parents of neurodiverse children often struggle to find verified and trusted therapy professionals.
- . Therapy and development services are scattered across platforms, with no unified place for collaboration between parents, therapists, schools, and child development centres (CDCs).
- . Communication gaps between stakeholders lead to inconsistent therapy plans and delayed progress.
- . Many professionals lack visibility and a platform to showcase their expertise or find new opportunities.

How!

Asdflo is an AI enabled tech platform that:

Connects parents with trusted child development professionals and therapy centers nearby.

Enables collaboration between parents, CDCs, schools, and corporates through centralized digital records and communication.

Empowers professionals and institutions with tools to manage schedules, build trust, and grow their reach.

Simplifies therapy access so that every child receives timely, consistent, and quality support.
